Dear McKittie,

It was most kind of you to write to me, and I was deeply touched by your letter and its friendliness. I have never forgotten that you wrote me a similar letter of deep friendship when my first wife died. It was one of the letters that most relieved the awful blackness of that period.

Actually I really was interested in hearing a first-hand impression of Wendell's lecture. I was away at the time with my family holidaying on a farm in a remote part of Dorset;

and it was impossible for us to come up to the R. A. S. I am at present writing a paper following some of Hendbloss' methods.

Whatever the result of our recommendations for the Queen Mary College Chair, I do not think it will be long before you have a Chair of your own.

Thanking you again for writing,

Yours sincerely,

E. A. Milne.
